ELA/Writing

This month we will be reading The Goat in the Rug, Half Chicken, From Seed to Plant, and The Mysterious Tadpole in our Anthology. We will be working on the following comprehension strategies: Drawing Conclusions, Cause and Effect, Monitor and Clarifying, and Inferencing. In grammar, we will cover irregular verbs and contractions. Also, we will be finishing our research books and then focusing on fictional narratives (fantasy) in writing.

Math

For this month, the students will further explore addition and subtraction strategies and use them to add three or more numbers. They will also use units of yards and meters to measure distances. At the end of the unit, they will learn to collect data and display it in a frequency table and a line plot.

Social Science

We will continue our Science unit on rocks, minerals, and fossils. Students will apply their knowledge about paleontologists and the previous fossil unit by researching and gathering information on a dinosaur. In Social Studies, students will continue to explore famous inventors and learn how their inventions changed our lives today. Additionally, students will continue their world travel exploring various countries and their cultures.
